Redwood City Police Incident report 1707250081
(Officer Juan Vallejo)

Early office hours on Tuesday 7-25-17 I started receiving phone calls about a man with no pants riding a bike along the bay trail that surrounds Westpoint Harbor. (Accompanied by Ivan Djordjevic), I found him lingering at the boat ramp and called the RWC police. Soon the man traveled down the path, waved, and stopped at the restrooms. I called the police again because I was able to give them specifics about the bike, which they had requested. The man remained in the restroom for quite awhile, taking a shower, before the police arrived. The police identified the man as a transient homeless man they are familiar with, and who has a record but nothing they considered of danger to anyone at WPH. They spoke with the man at length and during this time Nelson Wolfe donated a pair of pants to the man. The officers stayed until the man had cycled away. The officers advised us to start locking the restrooms and gangways, and install a security camera at the restrooms. They are concerned that the news will travel and we will have more homeless wanting to use WPH facilities.

(Officer Bill Cagnos)

Early afternoon the man returned to WPH and entered the office to request directions out of the harbor/back to RWC. (This time his speech was slurred.) I gave him directions and he left the building. Then he sat in a chair outside the front door and started to nap. Soon a police car arrived, eventually followed by two more officers. (A WPH member called police.) The man, then identified as Micheal Cunnane, was asked to leave the premises and later resisted so the officers eventually hand-cuffed him and called their fellow officer who specializes in the area's homeless. In the end they took him in for an overnight in jail to sober up. He is a known homeless man who is not considered dangerous and had been clean since January but has apparently started drinking again. At the suggestion of the officers, I filed a Trespass Notification (#602-01494). This means we can call police to have him arrested should he return to the premises.
